About Me

I am a passionate content creator and aspiring social media manager with hands-on experience in building and managing personal brand accounts. I currently run three Instagram pages: @lfixedng, which focuses on fixed gear cycling, motivational edits, and lifestyle content; @guitareduser_49901, which shares emotional storytelling and personal reflections behind music-related content; and @dng_inurscreen, a casual page where I post small highlight dumps about my hobbies, especially volleyball. Each account showcases my creativity, consistency, and ability to connect with different audiences through engaging visuals and relevant trends. I specialize in using tools like CapCut and Canva to design reels, stories, and social media graphics that maintain a cohesive brand identity. My experience has allowed me to understand platform algorithms, content scheduling, and audience engagement—skills that I'm excited to bring into a professional setting.

Experience

Freelance Video Editor & Content Creator 2024 - Present

As a freelance content creator, I worked with various clients and managed my own personal brand accounts to produce engaging visual content across platforms like Instagram, TikTok, Facebook, and YouTube. I handled video editing using CapCut, created eye-catching graphics with Canva, and developed content strategies tailored to specific audience niches. My work includes motivational edits on @lfixedng, music storytelling on @guitareduser_49901, and hobby highlights such as volleyball clips on @dng_inurscreen. This experience has strengthened my ability to adapt to trends, maintain brand consistency, and manage content calendars while delivering high-quality, platform-optimized posts.
